A Message from the Honourary Campaign Chair Ian Freeman

The Ontario Public Service (OPS) has a long history of generosity and giving. We see it as one more way to serve and support our fellow Ontarians and it has always been a fundamental part of our core values as public servants. As you know, last year saw the continuation of a devastating worldwide pandemic and it was a time of fear, loss, and continued struggle. Federated Health Charities mission is to support the health of all Ontarians, as such we felt a strong sense of responsibility to do our part during this time of health crisis and have been proud to have run two very successful fundraising campaigns throughout the pandemic. To do this we have turned to our OPS colleagues and you responded generously by donating over $1.6 million. The OPS has a long legacy of being strong supporters of the Federated Health Charities campaign and this shows the compassion and dedication that you all have towards ensuring that your families, friends, and fellow Ontarians have the best possible health services available to them in their time of need. This is truly admirable.

As we look to launch another campaign, I think we can all agree that the health of our province has been in jeopardy the past two years and support is still needed now more than ever. The funds raised by this campaign allow prevention, education, and awareness work to be done across the province and they allow millions of dollars to be invested in the finest research to work towards cures and improved treatments so that every person affected by one of these diseases has the best chance possible for recovery.

The 21 charities that do this incredible work rely heavily on the funds they receive from Federated Health, especially so after the devastating financial ramifications of the pandemic. We are committed to helping our charities rebuild by providing the resources they need to support individuals and families in need, to re-establish critical programs and services, and to move forward with the fight towards better treatments and cures. Those with pre-existing health conditions have been some of the most severely affected by the pandemic and they depend on the services provided by our charities. We want to make sure those services are available to them in their time of need.

Please join us in our efforts and consider a gift to Federated Health Charities. Funds raised will go to our 21 worthy charities who are doing everything they can to support those living with these devastating illnesses and to keep them safe.

Donate to Celebrate or Remember

You can make your donation in memory of someone who has died, or in someone's honour (often in lieu of a birthday or wedding present). We will send a card to family or friends informing them of your thoughtfulness; the recipient will be told which charity or group of charities was designated to receive the donation (though not the amount of the donation). You can sign up for this option when you make your donation on WIN or by using the donation form. These donations can be made at any time throughout the year.

ARE YOU RETIRING FROM THE OPS?

Federated Health Charities runs a biannual retiree mail out campaign. We send out an invitation to donate in the Spring and the Winter. As a retiree, you can make one-time donations through cash, cheque or credit card. If you prefer to make a regular donation you can sign up to make monthly, pre-authorized credit card donations.

If you are retiring and would like to continue your support of Federated Health, please contact Sarah Wood by emailing sarah.wood2@ontario.ca or go to our website federatedhealth.ca to sign up.
